

Seismic & Geophysical

Hydraulic excitation, seismic vibration and mining.

Specialised vehicles can be mounted with a large hydraulic sub system to develop seismic waves to investigate sub soil features, which can be measured to determine fault lines. Seismic exploration is used widely in the oil and gas market for development of oil fields.

Star Hydraulics supply servo valves to precisely control vibrations of the vibratory pad.

